

ZODIAC WORLD THE CONQUERING

Prologue

Polyganda was an entity of phenomenal cosmic powers. The entity was a centaur: with wings, twelve heads, and six arms in which the heads were all diverse in image except for two. Polyganda visited many planets and once it visited an un-fruited planet that was covered with eternal sand, and the inhabitants were skeletons that were half human—half scorpions. This wasteland planet was so pitiful looking to Polyganda it cried. Trees and grass appeared where it cried. Soon after, the twelve heads took it upon themselves to harvest the planet in the midst of creating this waste land planet Polyganda made a wonderful planet inhabited with lovely floral and great bodies of water. Polyganda also made 11 beings in its image that were named Zodiacs that Polyganda named this new created planet the Zodiac World. Great consequences came with such magic. Dimensional holes were opened up in which brought creatures from other dimensions. One particular kind of being that came through a dimensional hole was the Grandi Phi and through the another dimension were the Piedra. There was a dimensional hole opened, where demons from the world Kuman came. The Kuman were demons of great evil that had emotions of hate and malice their goal when they arrived on the planet was to rule the Zodiac World and torment the Zodiac and make them worship them. The magic also resurrected the extinct race that inhabited the Zodiac World previous the half human / half scorpion race these beings were called the Scorpio.

Tarzac and the Grandi Phi

Three centuries passed after Polyganda departed the planet. Zodiac races succeeded themselves. They migrated all over the Zodiac World. The Zodiac race known as the Sagittarius occupied the Hosand Country. The entire Sagittarius race is half-human from the head to the torso, and half-horse from the waste down. In the Hosand Country, the Sagittarius was tribal. There were many different Sagittarius tribes, and the tribes separated themselves from each other. The Peaceful tribes that caused no wars among other tribes were the Fug, the Appendock, the Ioti, the Eppen, and the Tyse. Then there were the Ottes, a magical race of Sagittarius. Before mix breeding with other tribes, the Ottes were dwarfing Sagittarius. The Ottes had wars with other tribes although not often. Also there was the Yeipa a savage tribe that was war like. Some tribes wanted to conquer the Hosand. One of the specific tribes was the Tarlic clan and the Zana clan.

A tribal king named Denomy led the Tarlic clan. The Tarlic clan invaded Sagittarius villages with their faces painted purple. The Sagittarius tribes in the Hosand feared the Tarlics because they feared they might conquer their land. The Tarlics had intentions on conquering the Fug's portion of land. The Fug tribe were peaceful, but overwhelmed a giant portion of land in the Hosand country. The Tarlic clan wanted to invade the Fug, but the Zana a neighboring tribe of the Fug land had intentions on invading the Fug as well. The Tarlics had to pass through Zana territory to get the Fug land. The Zana would not allow such a thing to happen. Chief Zodius headed the Zana. Zodius planned to conquer the whole Hosand Country and split the land with his seven sons.

In order for the Tarlics to pass the Fug land they would have to wage war on the Zana tribe, which they did. It was a bloody altercation that lasted for years. No one seemed to accomplish winning, so the Tarlics and the Zana came to a halt in the war. Two years later they came to an agreement to join forces and together conquer the Hosand Country. The Tarlics and the Zana clan were successful in conquering the Hosand Country. There were but a few Sagittarius tribes to oppose the Zana and Tarlics like the Ottes and Yeipa. The Zana and Tarlics conquered the Hosand Country in two months time.

Zodius was chief of the Zana tribe who planned to split the Hosand Country into sections for his seven sons. Now, he would have to divide those small portions of the land since he joined forces with the Tarlics. Three of the sons were furious because they wanted bigger portions of land to rule, but the fact of the matter was the land they got was a sufficient proportion. Zodius' son, Kilagesh was the most furious. He and his brother wanted bigger portions of the land. They respected their allies the Tarlics like the rest of the Zana tribe. The Tarlics's customs compared to that of the Zana. So they did not want to ruin relationships with the Tarlics by starting trouble. Kilagesh and his brother plotted on ways to get bigger portions of land to rule. Latter in the years Kilagesh hungered for the whole Hosand Country.

Kilagesh ruled parts of the Fug tribe land as well as the Yeipa. Kilagesh took a Fug female as his wife. This Fug female was Illazaccomia a peasant in Zana and Tarlics eyes. Illazaccomia was his servant that he fell in love with so he took her as his wife. Illazaccomia had not felt the same about him, in time she grew to love him because Kilagesh forced his love upon her. No male could gaze upon her or Kilagesh would put him to death. The Zana and Tarlics intermingled and they called their offspring the Zambaj. The Yeipa tribes were primitive Sagittarius Savages. The Yeipa still had primitive features of the first Sagittarius. They had hair coming out of their cheekbones down to their chin. They had noses like wolves.

Hair covered the bodies of the Yeipa all over men and women. It was rumored that at night they would howl at the moon. The tribal king was the Mighty Requin. Requin was furious about the occupation of his land by the Tarlics and Zana tribe. The Mighty Requin along with other Yeipa plotted to assassinate all the Tarlic and Zana leaders so the Yeipa could have their land back.

By some uncanny way Requin found some way to assassinate Denomy king of the Tarlics, Zodius chief of the Zana and six of his sons only Kilagesh remained alive. It was rumored that Kilagesh helped Requin to assassinate all of the leaders so Kilagesh could ascend to rule the Hosand land. It was not that simple once the leaders were killed, Kilagesh did not have the power to hold the tribes under his control. Kilagesh would not accept that. He went on a demonic crusade to unite the tribes together, so; Kilagesh and Kilagesh alone could rule the Sagittarius. With the Tarlics and the Yeipa's help, Kilagesh would be successful.

Zambaj and the Yeipa tribe had become Kilagesh's loyal servants. The army of Kilagesh forced the tribes to unify under one nation that only Kilagesh would rule. The Yeipa tribe ruled by Requin was under agreement with Kilagesh; that after the unification period Kilagesh would not rule the Yeipa. Kilagesh respected their agreement and the Yeipa were free.

There was a Sagittarius named Denomy from the Ottes Clan that opposed Kilagesh's Unification crusade. Zimbaj soldiers were ordered to murder Denomy. Denomy fled with his wife and child- the Zimbaj chased Denomy and his family onto a nearby beach. The Zimbaj soldiers murdered Denomy and his wife and left their son alive. Their toddler son was abandoned on the beach.

On the beach rested, the Temple of Libra. Later that day, a Libra priestess whose name was Cleo was walking along the beach consequently she found the toddler Sagittarius on the beach alongside his dead parents crying and hugging them. Cleo took the toddler Sagittarius inside the Temple of Libra. Cleo washed his parents' blood off his chest. Cleo and the other priestess tried to stop him from crying eventually they did. The Libra priestess felt it wasn't safe to return the toddler to the Hosand forests where the Sagittarius resided. The Libra priestess decided to let the toddler Sagittarius live in the temple. Cleo took it upon herself to raise him. No male had ever lived in the temple they named him Tarzac which meant new tradition.

Time passed when Tarzac was eight (in human years), he was very knowledgeable. There is a huge library of scrolls in the Temple of Libra. In this library consisted factual information of the entire world. Tarzac read the whole library by eight. He was taught all the languages of the Zodiacs and he learned a number of magic spells.

As more time passed when Tarzac was seventeen (in human years), he was very unhappy in the temple. Tarzac was haunted constantly by his parent's death. In his dreams, Tarzac's Parents would come to him in his dreams telling him to avenge their death. In his entire time of living in the temple he never was aloud to leave the perimeters of the beach.

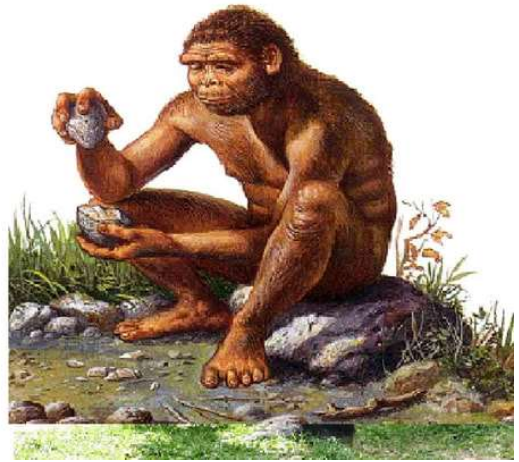

One day Tarzac (still seventeen in human years) lied. He asked the Libra priestess permission to leave the temple. He informed them that he wanted to explore the world and live with his own race and learn his culture. The Libra granted him his wish. They knew he wasn't a Libra and could not stay in the temple forever. The truth was he wanted to leave the temple to avenge his parents' death. The Libra would never of let him leave to disobey Polyganda's rules. Tarzac knew many things but he lacked fighting skills. Once he read in a scroll about Drex a Grandi Phi who was the greatest warrior. He lived in Che, a land months away from the temple. Che was stated in the scrolls as a very dangerous land where savage Grandi Phi dwelt. No outsider came to Che the reason being that they were petrified there was myth a demon lived in Che. This demon known as the dragon~snake was alleged to have turned the savages into slaves. That was all that was written in the Che scrolls usually Tarzac read more detailed writing in the scrolls he found the briefness peculiar.

---

After leaving the Temple he traveled to Che to find Drex. He wanted Drex to teach him how to be a warrior. On Tarzac's journey to Che he passed two countries. The first country was Sod which was a peninsula covered with dark green grass. It was always windy in Sod; the wind was like music to Tarzac's ears. The wind would carry the smell of the ocean. When he reached the highlands of Sod, he came upon a village where a race of hermaphroditic women occupied the village known as Virgos. A race of sea goats known as the Capricorn also dwelt there. The Virgos lived in the highlands because the lowlands of Sod would flood frequently and the lowlands were extremely mountainous. The Virgo coexists with the Capricorn. The Capricorn helped the Virgo migrate the land.

Moschac

The Zimbaj's loyalty

Moshac was a soldier whose job was to protect the royal family that was a great honor to him. He was very muscular and it was rumored that he was a great warrior. His mane was tan and his skin complexion was dark skin. He was the third descendant of his family to be a bodyguard for the royal family. His duties shifted he would guard the king and sometimes his daughters.

Out of all the royal family Moshac was closest with Illayah. They were good friends, but he always wanted more. Moshac thought she was beautiful inside and outside. He knew a royal bodyguard could not marry King Kilagesh's daughter only a tribal prince could and that prince would inherit the throne to Yec.

A month before Tarzac's arrival, King Kilagesh became seriously ill. He sent out word for a magician or physician to heal him. It was an order from the king that if anyone magician or physician could heal him that they could have Illayah as their bride and he would be the heir to the throne. If a woman could heal him they would be allowed a trunk of Sagittarius gold.

During this time Tarzac stayed in Yec living in the castle, Garranzana de loco arrived in Yec making himself invisible to the Sagittarius except for Tarzac because only Sagittarius was allowed in Yec. The dark one came to Tarzac in his human form.

"What are you doing here?"

Tarzac angrily said.

"You thought you would never see me again Tarzac. Wrong. I have come to tell you about your parent's murderer. I have done some research and found out that you are from the Ottes Clan. Your father's name was Desand who was a tribal noble. During Kilagesh's Unification Period Desand tried to spark a rebellion among his people against Kilagesh and his army. Kilagesh found this out and sent his soldiers after Desand and his wife who fled but were murdered."

For the first time, Tarzac felt combined with Garranzana de loco when he told him that information he knew it to be true. Tarzac felt a deep resentment towards King Kilagesh when given this information. Tarzac felt his task to be over since King Kilagesh was very ill, and would soon die. His parent's murderer would die by fate, and he did not have to avenge their death.

"Well I do not have to avenge my parent's death fate will take care of it."

"Maybe you should heal King Kilagesh."

Garranzana de loco said.

"Why?"

Tarzac questioned.

"To become heir..."

Garranzana de loco said.

"I could be a better King than King Kilagesh someone for the people."

Tarzac bragged.

"I know you can. You will be helping all the Sagittarius of Yec if you become heir to the throne and latter kill Kilagesh.

The dark one coaxed him.

Tarzac had a justification in his head that if he did this it would not be just for revenge but for all the citizens in Yec that felt Kilagesh's tyranny.

In the latter, Tarzac walked in Kilagesh's chamber.

"I am Tarzac."

"What do you want soldier?"

King Kilagesh's advisors questioned. King Kilagesh's horse body laid on a bed of hay in his room as his noble advisors stood around him in the room.

"To heal the king."

Tarzac answered the noble who interrogated him.

"So you are a physician as well as a soldier?"

The noble smugly asked Tarzac.

"A magician."

With confidence Tarzac expressed.

"Well come and try to heal your king."

King Kilagesh spoke as he coughed. Tarzac looked his parents' killer in his eyes. Studied his eyes, and his dark skin. Tarzac wondered to himself this is the cause of my constant nightmares this frail old man.

Tarzac healed the king and became the heir to the throne. Tarzac was given Kilagesh's daughter to marry.

Moshac stood in his corridors, and he was just told that a magician soldier named Tarzac had healed King Kilagesh. At that moment in time his heart was in pain. His love interest Princess Illayah was to marry a soldier. He could accept her marrying a tribal prince. This news gave Moshac a deep resentment against Tarzac. Not only was he awarded the heir to the throne but was given a position as high general. A high general was in charge of all the Sagittarius army in Yec.

Tarzac thought Illayah was attractive but had no interest in her. He was still in love with Trishca his lover from Bismet. Their relationship was one of a good friendship. She thought Tarzac to be attractive because of his Caucasian complexion. Illayah's mother had a Caucasian complexion. Her father Kilagesh complexion was dark skin. Tarzac told her most of his adventures he excluded the dark one.

Months passed Tarzac and Illayah's relationship turned from friendship to intimacy. The two had deep feelings for each other. Illayah loved him more than Tarzac. Tarzac would never love another as he did Trishca. These times in Yec King Killagesh's tyranny became worst. The lowest tribes were being treated horribly than ever. The poor were dying in the streets from famine and disease. Tarzac disapproved of the King's oppression. The way he treated the Sagittarius peasants gave him a deeper hatred of Kilagesh. He felt that a king should be kind to his people.

Two years passed Tarzac funded an underground rebellion against Kilagesh called the Killians. Tarzac even helped improved the Killians fighting skills, and he taught them how to use the grook. The Killians were skilled in using the grook. The grook is a Grandi Phi weapon, the weapon was hard to use and not known by most of the world. The weapon was used only in the Grandi Phi communities. The Killians wore red masks. At night, they raided corrupt nobles homes and killed them. Kilagesh was frightened of the Killians. He feared that the Killians would assassinate him. Kilagesh doubled his security. He posted guards outside every nobleman's home. Illayah had a suspicion that Tarzac was involved in the Killians. The reason being was he used the grook, and the Killians did also. There was not a lot of Sagittarius that mastered in using the grook. The grook was a foreign weapon to the Sagittarius. She caught him on occasions having secret meetings with nobles, Moshac, and Ardax.

Moshac was no fan of King Kilagesh. He knew of Tarzac's involvement in the Killians. Although he did not care for Tarzac for personal reasons he contributed his help to the Killians. The Killians were made up of commoners that were funded and aided by nobles and soldiers who wanted to see the fall of Kilagesh. Kilagesh had no clue of what was going on. He just knew that the Killians were commoners and his nobles that supported Kilagesh's way of rule the Tarlic and Zana clan did not know of this.

One day, Tarzac, Ardax, Gallo Shem a noble and Moshac held a secret meeting.

"How are we to complete the final phase of terror to Kilagesh? Sure we terrorized him and his loyal nobles stroke fear in the hearts of he and his nobles but how can we finish him for good."

Gallo Shem spoke out.

"You mean assassinate him Gallo Shem?"

Ardax fearfully asked.

Gallo Shem went on a tirade saying...

"Yes Ardax. It has been to long for his tyranny. Its time to give Tarzac his place on the throne."

"Striking him down would be too easy something not noticeable."

Tarzac stated.

"Food!"

Moshac yelled out.

"What do you mean Moshac?"

Tarzac inquired.

"Food gets past my inspection. Bad food."

Moshac said.

"What do mean by that?"

Tarzac asked.

"Parasite worms."

Moshac explained.

"Of course if you put parasite worms in King Kilagesh's food then..."

Ardax exclaimed.

"No one will know how he died."

Tarzac said.

"Yes. That is what we will do."

Gallo Shem declared.

"Ardax and Moshac when I become king you to will become high generals. Gallo Shem you will be noble counselor. This new title means that you will look over the city dwellers and be a representative to the Sagittarius."

Tarzac promised.

"That sounds good to me Tarzac"

Gallo Shem commented.

"Then tomorrow we will follow up with the plan."

Tarzac said.

The assassination plan was simple. Moshac guarded King Kilagesh personally he would put parasite worms in the King's supper. By the next day Kilagesh would die in his sleep. Everyone would think the supper was just infected and not cooked properly. Tarzac, Ardax, Moshac, and Gallo Shem went along with this plan. The assassination plan went along smoothly. King Kilagesh died from parasite worms in his supper that Moshac planted. King Kilagesh was cremated, and his ashes were spread along the streets of Yec. His daughter Illayah, Kalliyah and Katesh felt that spreading his ashes was the right thing to do it was Kilagesh who made the united tribal city.

There was a new era in Tarzac's rule. Tarzac did not try to unify the tribes by force, nor did he oppress them with tyranny. The land that the new King ruled had its problems. The new king Tarzac had his share of enemies, who were supporters of Kilagesh, and they wanted to overthrow Tarzac. They were the nobles and the old King's council who could no longer do corruption to the city. Tarzac cancelled the old King's Counsel, nobles, and the corrupt army and only left a few. Tarzac replaced the old army with the Killians the rebel terrorist that Tarzac helped fund. He renamed them the Voshow, which meant in Grandi Phi the great warriors.

12. The tale of the Voshow

The five warriors names were Polag, Lagrex, Kixrex, Andorex, and Melag. These five warriors were famous in the land of Che before the dark one ruled the land they were known as the greatest warriors. They were all brothers all of them wondered who was the best out of the five especially the brothers, but never mentioned it. One day Polag boasted after a battle with a neighboring Grandi Phi tribe that he was the greatest. Then he suggested that once and for all the Grandi Phi of Che find out who is the best of the five by all the brothers engaging in battle Melag disagreed. Melag he felt that brothers should not engage in battle with each other and argued with his brothers that they were all equal. The other three felt differently. They wanted to find out who was the best once and for all. The four warriors engaged in battle and Melag looked in disappointment. Sadly, he could not persuade them. The four warriors died together in battle with each other. At the end Melag was the greatest warrior (Voshow) because being wise and humble makes one a great warrior not strength. Great warriors do not boast.

Tarzac kept his promise to Moshac, Ardax, and Gallo Shem. Moshac and Ardax became high general of the VoShow. Gallo Shem was the chief advisor to Tarzac and a representative of the people his title was chief noble counselor.

Illayah felt as if she could not trust her husband. She had a suspicion that he was responsible for his death or had something to do with the Killians. The Killians used the grook not that many Sagittarius knew about that weapon, but Tarzac was an expert.

Expansion of lands.

King Tarzac expanded his Sagittarius Empire while the Virgo traveled countries collecting opals. Tarzac with the help of his allies the Aquarius, and Desert City Sagittarius; Tarzac conquered the lands north, south, and east of the city Yec. The Yeipa civilization was west of the city Yec and the Desert City—Tarzac respected the Yeipa and had no interest in invading their soil. A the Sultan Kali-Amed monarch of the Desert City had a contract with King Tarzac that stated the Desert City will have parts of land south of Desert City if the Sultan help Yec conquest the lands. The Aquarius were given lands North of Yec, therefore Nome erchu the Aquarius villages could expand.

The lands Tarzac conquered were not heavily populated. Only a few Leo prides resided North of Yec. These Leo prides were called Boyhems and the Azyans. The lands of the south were Taurus houses. These house were neither under Brita Oumkabor's rule nor the Shilords. Tarzac kept his expansion discrete.

Prince Tarzac Simat was sent back to Yec after the expedition to the Yeipa civilization. The young male Sagittarius was back in the care of his mother Queen Illayah. Prince Tarzac Simat knew his mother, but had no love or relationship with her. His Aunt Katesh was the one who cared for him most of his life.

Queen Illayah was happy at these times. King Tarzac was away expanding lands. Queen Illayah was in love with General Moshac he was in love with her too. They kept their love affair secret. General Ardax spied on General Moshac and Queen Illayah to catch them and their scandalous acts. No one ordered General Ardax to do such things it had become his mission, or his obsession.

During all of this the Petra Marius hid from Animosity and Mahogany. Marius was a threat to Animosity and Mahogany. Marius did not believe in the Petra society and tried to revolt against it Marius believed in the Promised Empire. The Promised Empire a myth that states one day the Petra would have a great empire and country. Marius wanted this Promised Empire without the dark one's help. Marius wanted to declare independence from the dark one. If that happened Garranzana de loco would kill all Petra. Marius wanted to commit heresy break the covet of Spellbinder. Spellbinder is the Petra greatest prophet. Marius would defile her father, Garranzana de loco also Marius wanted to defile her covet of appointing Animosity and Mahogany as general kings. Marius wanted to assassinate Animosity and Mahogany and descend on their throne. Marius hid in Bismet recruiting a band of revolutionary Petra.

Tarzac stood in the grasslands south of Yec and three hundred miles from Caskatta and Kreestonia. He stood in the grassland proud of his accomplishments. Standing next to him was Bacurkus and Glumador the two black dogs of Kuman. They were to help with the invasion of the land.

"The house of Radimus, Jea, and the other mini Taurus houses have become loyal servants of your kingdom prophecy."

Glumador said.

"They like the Leo prides Boyhems and Azyans are just under the Blood Corals control."
Tarzac mentioned.

"No Tarzac the opal is your power as it is the dark ones. They respect your power; that is why they are loyal servants."

Glumador responded.

For the first time, Tarzac understood and accepted being the prophecy. Tarzac at that moment realized he was the dark one. Tarzac realized he could do nothing about it. He was what he was. Tarzac tried to run away from Garranzana de loco's passions of evil and his thoughts. Tarzac had now decided to let go and follow his path in life. This meant accepting the bond. The truth hurt Tarzac, and he suppressed the fact he was bonded with the dark one. Now, he accepted it, and bowed down to his fate that was going along with the dark one's desires of conquering the Zodiac World and getting revenge on Polyganda.

"I can no longer run from my destiny."

Tarzac replied.

"What do you mean master?"

Glumador the black dog of Kuman questioned.

"We are going to Che to meet the dragon snake. We should devise a plan of invading the populated countries."

Commanded Tarzac.

Soon after Bacurkus, Glumador, and Tarzac traveled to Che leaving some of his army to occupy grasslands south of Yec they called Meoche.

King Tarzac stayed in Che for months. Devising military invasions of Sod, the unnamed land, and Bismet with the dark one. Tarzac spent months in Che reflecting on his past he desired to spend moments in the past when he was the happiest which was when he was in Bismet. He thought about Drex and Spellbinder a lot while in Che and the many things they taught him.

Garranzana de loco and Tarzac bond was getting stronger, so; they called themselves the One.

King Tarzac returned to Yec. Alongside to accompany him was Ethan Tarzac's loyal bodyguard and a few Voshow soldiers. King Tarzac had to take care of political matters in Yec. King Tarzac had entered the city of Yec. The citizens of Yec trotted over to him on the streets and gave him cheers. A citizen came up to him and said

"King Tarzac—we are so glad to see you on the streets of Yec. Gallo Shem your chief noble counselor has corrupted the city of Yec."

"What do you mean?"

Interrogated Tarzac.

"First we trusted an Appendock tribesman to oversee the city. Appendock unlike the Zana are trustworthy."

Stated a citizen, of Yec.

"I never trusted Appendocks!"

Another citizen in crowd of Sagittarius yelled out.

"Go on citizen."

Tarzac said.

"He has over taxed the citizens making poverty extremely high –taking the tax money and becoming extremely rich."

"What else had he done?"

Questioned Tarzac.

"All things horrible under Polyganda unmoral things."

The citizen declared.

"Training soldiers to overthrow you and the Voshow spreading evil propaganda. King Tarzac cares nothing for the Sagittarius he has abandoned us he says He once cared about fathering a Sagittarius nation of peace between the tribes now he just wants to father Aquarius nations and other Zodiacs."

Another citizen commented.

"Ridiculous! The reason I left is to make a great nation for the Sagittarius. He shall pay for his treachery!"

Shouted out Tarzac

"No it is you who will pay!"

A few citizens in the crowd yelled out. King Tarzac looked around in fear. Ethan and the few Voshow pulled out their bow and arrows. Twenty Sagittarius pushed their way into the front of the crowd to talk to King Tarzac.

"We are the New Cite Cite! You will now die!"

The twenty Sagittarius stated. Tarzac angered said one word..."Kumla."

Then the mob against him hearts came out of their chest and their heads busted. King Tarzac soon after looked into the crowd in anger...the crowd as well as Ethan and the Voshow was petrified and became silent and Tarzac made a speech.

"I have to come home to face danger while danger is all around me outside the wall of Yec. I have one mission to make my race great. If you cannot understand my vision and remain against me you will die like those who minutes ago threatened my life. Come Voshow let us go to the castle to find this traitor Gallo Shem."

Gallo Shem was at the entrance of the castle to welcome Tarzac and the Voshow. When King Tarzac and the Voshow arrived in the entrance of the castle Gallo Shem unaware of the events that had happened remained in the castle unworried.

"King Tarzac welcome back to the city. We have been anticipating your return."

Gallo Shem stated as he fawned over Tarzac.

Ethan and the Voshow then dragged Gallo Shem out of the entrance of the castle.

"What is going on? What is this for?"

Questioned Gallo Shem.

"The New Cite... we know you are involved in treason against our master King Tarzac."

The Voshow explained.

"King Tarzac I have served you faithfully for years... I am your friend and, I would not."

Gallo Shem replied.

"Lies. I know the truth old friend."

Tarzac attested.

Gallo Shem forcefully, brought into the square of the city. Then they tied Gallo Shem to a pole. As the city watched, Gallo Shem's flesh was torn apart, whipped with a whip with an iron hard knot on its thongs he screamed for mercy. Whipped a hundred times by Tarzac; Gallo Shem died from pain. The citizens were terrified and disgusted at this bloody event. As Gallo Shem died Tarzac shouted out...

"This is an example of those who oppose me."

After this bloody event King Tarzac, Ethan, and the Voshow returned to the castle. Awaiting him in his personnel corridor was Queen Illayah.

"Hello my love."

Illayah said to Tarzac.

"Illayah."

Tarzac said puzzled. She had not referred to him in such a way in years.

"Its been a long time since you have seen me, touched me."

Illayah responded--Illayah trotted over to Tarzac put her hands on his shoulders and started rubbing his shoulders. Then she kissed the back of his neck.

"Are you stressed my love—why do they hate you so. All Sagittarius should know the good you have done for the nation."

Illayah was disgusted at touching King Tarzac but it had to she felt it necessary she was pregnant with another man's child and to have sex with Tarzac so he would think it was his. As Illayah rubbed his shoulders and chest, he spoke.

"All I do for the nation—you understand don't you Illayah."

"Yes. I understand. Make love to me Tarzac."

"We haven't in such a long time why now ask?"

Tarzac questioned.

"Its just that reason it's been a long time. I want us to be like when we first fell in love. This week while you're in Yec let us all be a family me, you, and Simat."

Illayah responded.

"Alright."

Tarzac had said. Tarzac and Illayah had then had intercourse; it was no love for the both of them. The next day King Tarzac and Voshow rounded up a hundred accused members of the the New Cite Cite. Punishment for them was cruel and sadistic. Torture was used to extract confessions. A soldier with an cow nerve whipped the accused culprit or leather lashes said to be as thick as one's finger, which bit into the flesh of the accused members brought to King Tarzac for a week and they all went through the same evil torture. At the end of the week King Tarzac had to leave. King Tarzac had to leave Yec to go to Sod. King Tarzac had left Queen Illayah in charge of the city. Queen Illayah stood in the castle looking out of the glass less window from the highest point of the castle. She smiled as she seen King Tarzac and his army the Voshow leave the city. Her sister Kayillah had came to stand next to her and said.

"This has always been your favorite thing to do. Look out of this window and think."

"Yes."

Illayah stated.

"So finally the true royalty of Yec is in charge. Do you think Tarzac expects us? That we were responsible for organizing the New Cite Cite."

Kayillah said.

"Not at all... I seduced him the day we planned to expose the Cite Cite and get revenge on Gallo Shem. He thinks I'm still madly in love with him."

"For Gallo Shem too was responsible for the death of our father."

Kayillah said.

"Yes. We did a good job Kayillah manipulating him to organize the new Cite Cite and spread propaganda against Tarzac... That Appendock got what he deserved."

Queen Illayah said.

"You lover Moshac was involved too. What are we to do with him?"

Kayillah questioned.

"Nothing! I love him Kayillah. Tarzac and Ardax are the only ones to die for the assassination of our father Kilagesh."

"The Zana tribe will rule the Sagittarius nation again."